

Harvey Briggs Cup For Writing

S P A C E

2009 is The International Year of Astronomy, so Space is the theme for this year's writing competition. Maybe you would like to write about aliens, space travel or life on another planet? You could even choose one of these pictures to write about, or think up some ideas of your own. Your story can be handwritten or done on a computer, but it must be your own work.

Please send your entry to Onchan Library before 30 Nov 2009. Make sure that you have written your name, age, address and telephone / e-mail on the back of your work.

The competition is open to children up to age 12, and will be judged by Harvey Briggs. The overall winner will be awarded the Harvey Briggs Cup for Writing, and runner-up prizes may also be awarded.
